OCHRE Evaluation | Stage 1: Implementation and early outcomes

Campbelltown Opportunity Hub

Evaluation Plan

October 2017

The Campbelltown Opportunity Hub operates on Dharawal Country.

The research team from the Social Policy Research Centre acknowledges the Dharawal people as the traditional custodians of the land we will be working on and pay our respect to Elders past, present and future.
1 Introduction

The Social Policy Research Centre, UNSW Australia (the research team) have been contracted by Aboriginal Affairs NSW, Department of Education, to conduct an evaluation of OCHRE including the Campbelltown Opportunity Hub (the Opportunity Hub). OCHRE is the community-focused plan for Aboriginal affairs in NSW.

The evaluation will be based on the principles of decolonising research, consistent with the underlying philosophy of OCHRE to facilitate the self-determination of Aboriginal peoples in NSW. For more information on the approach see Section 3.1 of the OCHRE Evaluation Plan: Overview and Stage 1.

This plan sets out how the first stage of the evaluation of the Opportunity Hub will be conducted. This is an abridged version of the detailed data collection plan developed and approved by the community. For more information on this stage of the evaluation, see Section 5 of the OCHRE Evaluation Plan: Overview and Stage 1. This plan identifies key stakeholders, what local community view as success and how it might be measured (where identified), method and timing of data collection.

2 About the Campbelltown Opportunity Hub

The Campbelltown Opportunity Hub is one of four state government funded initiative Opportunity Hubs operating in NSW. It opened its doors in March 2014 and is run by MTC Australia, based at Queen Street, Campbelltown. The Opportunity Hub coordinates and matches training and career opportunities with Aboriginal students, providing incentives to finish school and transition into tertiary study and sustainable jobs.

The Opportunity Hub works closely with community, schools, industry and employers, tertiary institutions and other NGOs to deliver cultural programs; career aspiration, education and planning; resilience and confidence building; and life skills programs and activities.

3 Ethics and permissions

On 9 August 2016, ethics approval was received from the Aboriginal Health and Medical Research Council Human Research Ethics Committee (AH&MRC HREC). For further information, see Section 5.3.3 of the OCHRE Evaluation Plan: Overview and Stage 1.
Between May and August 2016, the research team received approval from Tharawal Aboriginal Corporation, Tharawal Local Aboriginal Land Council (LALC), and MTC Australia to continue the conversation with the Aboriginal community in Campbelltown about the Opportunity Hub.

In September 2017, the NSW Department of Education, through the State Education Research Applications Process (SERAP), provided permission for the research team to talk to staff and students in Year 8 and above, within the school grounds, with the consent of the Principal.

4 Gathering information

Dharawal Country covers a large area from the southern and south-western Sydney area from the south side of Botany Bay, around Port Hacking to the north of the Shoalhaven River (Nowra), and extending inland west to Campbelltown and Camden.

The Opportunity Hub footprint covers the Campbelltown area only, a small part of Dharawal Country. Aboriginal interests in the Campbelltown area are represented through the Tharawal Aboriginal Corporation and the Tharawal LALC. The Tharawal LALC covers an area larger than the Opportunity Hub footprint, encompassing the local council boundaries of the Campbelltown, Wollondilly, Camden and Liverpool Local Government Areas (LGAs).

The SPRC team respectfully acknowledge that people from many Aboriginal nations live in the Opportunity Hub footprint area, and that the Opportunity Hub works with peoples of the Dharawal and other Aboriginal nations.

4.1 Focusing the evaluation through co-design

This plan is built from co-design conversations that occurred with local Aboriginal community members between March and May 2017. For further information on co-design see Section 5.4.1 of the OCHRE Evaluation Plan: Overview and Stage 1.

During the co-design process the criteria against which the local Aboriginal communities would assess success focused on student engagement, community control of the Opportunity Hub, increased local employment opportunities for Aboriginal young people, and increase engagement in culture by Aboriginal children and young people.

The core evaluation questions are outlined in Section 4.3 of the OCHRE Evaluation Plan: Overview and Stage 1.

4.2 Stakeholder groups

There are many different people and organisations who have been or are involved in implementing the Opportunity Hub. The research team will approach the following groups:

- The Local Aboriginal community, including Elders, the Tharawal LALC, Tharawal Aboriginal Corporation, former students and other interested local community members
• The Opportunity Hub, including the General Manager, Coordinator, Youth Advisors (MTC Australia) and the Opportunity Hub Advisory Board
• NSW Government, including the Director, Department of Industry; Aboriginal Affairs NSW, and the Aboriginal Education Consultative Group (AECG)
• Other employment program providers, including the NRL School to Work, AFL School to Work, Ability Options employment, and the Aboriginal Employment Strategy
• Participating school communities, including Principals, Aboriginal Education Officers, students in Year 8 and above and parents/carers (both those participating and not participating in any Opportunity Hub program)
• Non-participating school communities includes Principals, students and parents/carers
• Industry groups includes Hutchison Builders, Australian Army
• Other stakeholders, such as NSW TAFE.

4.2.1 Who will participate in the conversation?

The table below indicates the range of people we hope to have conversations with and how they may be approached. We aim to have conversations with around 60 people.

4.3 Collecting data

Data collection will occur during two periods due to end of year school commitments. All participants other than students and community members will be consulted between October and November 2017, with students and community members consulted in February 2018. Data will be collected by an Aboriginal researcher engaged by the SPRC and up to four local Aboriginal community researchers. Data collection will be inclusive of a weekend and allows for data collection outside of normal work hours. Where one-to-one conversations are sought, but not feasible within the collection period, these will be organised after the fieldwork period and completed by phone or Skype.

Further information on data collection can be found in Section 5.4.2 of the OCHRE Evaluation Plan: Overview and Stage 1.

4.3.1 Local Aboriginal community researcher model

A community researcher model will be adopted as a way of encouraging the community to have control over the research, while also building research capacity in communities. Successful applications will be determined by SPRC and researchers will be trained, supported, debriefed, and paid by SPRC.

4.3.2 Data collection methods

The methods used were developed by the research team together with community members (co-design) and have been further developed to maximise opportunities for participation and engagement.

Interviews and group discussions will be the means for obtaining information from the Opportunity Hub Board, NSW Government, School staff, and the Opportunity Hub team. Interviews can be face-to-face or by phone and are being organised by Aboriginal Affairs.

One-to-one or group yarns will be used to have conversations with the community.

An online survey will be available for anyone who would like to provide information anonymously, for those who are unable to talk to the researchers while they are in community, or for those who would like to provide additional feedback. The survey will be open until end of February 2018, or longer as needed.

Conversation guides have been developed to help answer the evaluation questions and assess the measures identified in co-design. iPads will be programmed to support the use of these guides and to record participant responses. The cultural appropriateness of the questions in the guides will be checked with local Aboriginal peoples.

4.3.3 Identifying and recruiting participants

Potential participants were identified using a range of methods to reduce the risk that some stakeholder groups would not be represented. These included consulting Aboriginal Affairs NSW, the Opportunity Hub staff, and key Aboriginal community members.

The Principals of a sample of schools will be approached to take part. Where Principals provide permission, SPRC will invite the teacher, parents/carers and students of the school to take part.

The community will be alerted to the opportunity to participate through the networks of Aboriginal Affairs NSW, Aboriginal organisations and stakeholders, and community researchers. Opportunity Hub staff, the Opportunity Hub Board, and NSW Government staff, will be approached by Aboriginal Affairs NSW on behalf of SPRC and offered an opportunity to participate.

The participant information statement and consent forms will be provided to all interested persons to inform their decision to take part. Each participant will be provided a voucher as reimbursement for their time. Community members participating as part of their paid or official positions will not be reimbursed.

4.4 Analysis of data collected and validation of findings

The overall analysis approach is detailed in Section 5.4.3 of the OCHRE Evaluation Plan: Overview and Stage 1. Data that will be analysed include data collected in the community (through conversations), OCHRE policy, procedures and guidelines, program monitoring data, and other administrative data. Analysis will be undertaken over the period February–March 2018.

Once findings are available, the SPRC researcher will meet with local community researchers and interested Aboriginal community members to validate findings and discuss any recommendations that the Aboriginal community consider appropriate. This is expected to occur in April 2018.

4.5 Reporting findings

The overall reporting approach is detailed in Section 5.5 of the OCHRE Evaluation Plan: Overview and Stage 1.

The research team will return to meet with the local Aboriginal communities to deliver the final report and seek their permission to share their report with government (to be complete by June 2018). Note that SPRC must provide an embargoed copy of the report to Aboriginal Affairs NSW to meet the terms of their contract.
