Summary of the Course

Subject Area: Social Work

Examines the history and current legacy of colonisation and government policies for Indigenous Australians and their position in contemporary Australian society. Social movements and actions relevant to Indigenous Australians' social experience will be discussed. Addresses in particular the skills social workers need to work with Indigenous clients and what role social work can play in progressing equity and social justice for Indigenous Australians.

Course Learning Outcomes

1. Demonstrate a critical understanding of the key social and community issues facing Aboriginal communities today
2. Engage in critical reflection on the role of social workers in working with Aboriginal people and communities
3. Describe the skills, attributes and knowledge needed for work with Aboriginal people in a social work contexts
4. Display developed and implement skills of self reflection
5. Display developed and implement skills of critical analysis
6. Display developed group facilitation and presentation skills

Teaching Strategies

Rationale:

In accordance with UNSW Learning and Teaching Guidelines, we expect to engage students in learning through structured hands-on activities. This is premised on the belief that effective learning takes place when students are actively engaged in the learning process

Teaching Strategies:

The learning outcomes will be addressed through weekly lectures and tutorials. The tutorials are based on interactive participation by all members of the tutorials. Students are expected to engage with the material presented through the lectures, to read and to consider the wider issues as they occur within society and to prepare for the tutors in order to enhance their learning experience.

Assessment

Class Participation

Students are expected to thoughtfully and actively engage with the course content, and their own worldviews and perceptions in relation to the course. To assist this, students should come prepared to each tutorial with a question, comment or discussion topic in relation to the weekly readings, or the lecture content. Each tutorial will critically engage with what students have learnt that week, and these discussions will aid you to write your final assessment.

Online Quiz

As per UNSW's policy to provide students with feedback on their progress prior to the census date (17 March), students will be required to complete an online Moodle quiz by the end of week 4 (Fri 15 March). The quiz will not count towards your weighted assessments and will be informed by the set readings and lecture content for weeks 1-4.

Assessment Details

Assessment 1: Essay

Start date:

Length: 1000 words

Details: Description: An essay on a topic relevant to the course (1000 words). This may be related to your tutorial presentation topic. Feedback: Written feedback within 2 weeks of due date

Additional details:

This essay may be related to your tutorial presentation topic, or you can choose your own (in consultation with your tutor).

For this essay, students are expected to:

- Clearly introduce the topic or issue
- Outline the history and context of their chosen topic or issue
- Clearly argue their position on the chosen topic or issue
- Discuss the relevance of this topic or issue for social workers
- Discuss the implications of this issue for social work practice

Turnitin setting: This assignment is submitted through Turnitin and students do not see Turnitin

similarity reports.

Assessment 2: Tutorial Group Presentation

Start date: 27/03/2019

Details: Description: In tutorial groups students will form small groups of 2-5 students and develop a presentation around a topic discussed in the lectures/tutorials (you will be provided with a list to choose from). The presentations will be given in tutorials and each group will have 30 minutes to present. Feedback: Written feedback within 2 weeks of due date.

Additional details:

During week 1 of tutorials students will form small groups (four groups per tutorial class), choose their presentation topic, and nominate a week to present (week 6, 7, 8 or 9).

Students can choose from one of the following topics for their presentation, or groups can choose their own (in consultation with class tutors):

- The significance of Terra Nullius today
- Social justice, equality and Indigenous Australians
- Indigenous child, family and community welfare
- Key moments in Aboriginal Australia
- Historical trauma, healing and resilience
- Closing the Gap
- Dispelling myths, combating stereotypes
- Aboriginal activism
- Oppressive government policies
- Cultural competence where there is cultural difference
- Social workers and Indigenous communities

*Note these topics have been left quite broad so you will have the flexibility to develop your own ideas and approach to the topic.

The presentation can be delivered in a range of different ways, for example, a formal PowerPoint presentation, a political campaign, a debate, a role-play, or any other approach you choose, as long as you are demonstrating your understanding of the topic in relation to the course learning outcomes. You should also link your presentation to the relevance of/ implications for, social work.

All students are expected to actively contribute to the development and delivery of the presentation. Students will be marked individually and will be provided with written feedback the following week.

Submission notes:Presentations held during weeks 6, 7, 8 & 9

Turnitin setting: This is not a Turnitin assignment

Assessment 3: Self reflection

Start date:

Length: 2500 words

Details: Description: 2500 word reflection on a topic relevant to the course
Feedback: Written feedback within 2 weeks of due date
This is the final assessment for the course

Additional details:

PLEASE NOTE: The description for this assessment has changed, it is not a reflection on a particular topic. See correct details below.

This assessment is a critical self-reflection on your journey throughout the course. You will need to write about what you have learnt and how you have reacted and interacted with the course content and your social work peers. How have your perceptions on the various topics explored throughout the course changed since the beginning of term? What topics made a particular impact on you and why? Importantly, what do these learnings mean for how you will approach your role as a social worker in the field?

To aid in writing this self-reflective essay, we strongly encourage students to keep a reflective journal that you write in regularly following lectures and tutorials, and after engaging with the course content. Students are expected to use citations from the course content, and self-reflective literature in the writing of this essay.

Turnitin setting: This assignment is submitted through Turnitin and students do not see Turnitin similarity reports.

Attendance Requirements

Students are strongly encouraged to attend all classes and review lecture recordings.

Turnitin Submission

If you encounter a problem when attempting to submit your assignment through Turnitin, please telephone External Support on 9385 3331 or email them on externalteltsupport@unsw.edu.au . Support hours are 8:00am – 10:00pm on weekdays and 9:00am – 5:00pm on weekends (365 days a year). If you are unable to submit your assignment due to a fault with Turnitin you may apply for an extension, but you must retain your ticket number from External Support (along with any other relevant documents) to include as evidence to support your extension application. If you email External Support you will automatically receive a ticket number, but if you telephone you will need to specifically ask for one. Turnitin also provides updates on their system status on Twitter.

Generally, assessment tasks must be submitted electronically via either Turnitin or a Moodle assignment. In instances where this is not possible, it will be stated on your course's Moodle site with alternative submission details.

Academic Honesty and Plagiarism

Plagiarism is using the words or ideas of others and presenting them as your own. It can take many forms, from deliberate cheating to accidentally copying from a source without acknowledgement.

UNSW groups plagiarism into the following categories:

Copying: using the same or very similar words to the original text or idea without acknowledging the source or using quotation marks. This also applies to images, art and design projects, as well as presentations where someone presents another's ideas or words without credit.

Inappropriate paraphrasing: Changing a few words and phrases while mostly retaining the original structure and/or progression of ideas of the original, and information without acknowledgement. This also applies in presentations where someone paraphrases another's ideas or words without credit and to piecing together quotes and paraphrases into a new whole, without appropriate referencing.

Collusion: working with others but passing off the work as a person's individual work. Collusion also includes providing your work to another student before the due date, or for the purpose of them plagiarising at any time, paying another person to perform an academic task, stealing or acquiring another person's academic work and copying it, offering to complete another person's work or seeking payment for completing academic work.

Inappropriate citation: Citing sources which have not been read, without acknowledging the "secondary" source from which knowledge of them has been obtained.

Duplication ("self-plagiarism"): submitting your own work, in whole or in part, where it has previously been prepared or submitted for another assessment or course at UNSW or another university.

Correct referencing practices:

- Paraphrasing, summarising, essay writing and time management
- Appropriate use of and attribution for a range of materials including text, images, formulae and concepts.

Individual assistance is available on request from The Learning Centre (<http://www.lc.unsw.edu.au/>). Students are also reminded that careful time management is an important part of study and one of the identified causes of plagiarism is poor time management. Students should allow sufficient time for research, drafting and proper referencing of sources in preparing all assessment items.

UNSW Library also has the ELISE tool available to assist you with your study at UNSW. ELISE is designed to introduce new students to studying at UNSW but it can also be a great refresher during your study.

Completing the ELISE tutorial and quiz will enable you to:

- analyse topics, plan responses and organise research for academic writing and other assessment tasks
- effectively and efficiently find appropriate information sources and evaluate relevance to your needs
- use and manage information effectively to accomplish a specific purpose
- better manage your time

- understand your rights and responsibilities as a student at UNSW
- be aware of plagiarism, copyright, UNSW Student Code of Conduct and Acceptable Use of UNSW ICT Resources Policy
- be aware of the standards of behaviour expected of everyone in the UNSW community
- locate services and information about UNSW and UNSW Library

Some of these areas will be familiar to you, others will be new. Gaining a solid understanding of all the related aspects of ELISE will help you make the most of your studies at UNSW.
